PERSONAL & CONFIDENTIAL

The Directors of our Foundation feel that due to your outstanding achievements you would be an excellent donor for our Repository for Germinal Choice.

The great geneticist, Hermann J. Muller, often said that his concept of repositories for germinal choice was the most significant contribution of his life. He ranked this even above the accomplishment for which he received a Nobel prize.

The Repository is intended to increase the distribution of genes which have helped to produce our most resourceful individuals. It meets all costs and maintains complete confidentiality.

This is an invitation to you to participate in our program, which is described more fully in the enclosed literature. If you would consider participating, please complete the response form and return it in the envelope provided.

Sincerely and most respectfully,

Robert Graham

P.S. Liquid nitrogen and cryogenic tanks allow us to serve donors and recipients anywhere.
